FATHER, TWO SONS DIE IN ACCIDENT

Hope Dims for Envoy Lost in Sea Crash

ATCHESON AND FOUR OTHERS BELIEVED DEAD

Plane Bearing MacArthur Aid, Top Army Brass Crashes Near Hawaii.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Aug. 18—Probing by searchlights, surface ships continued their search early today for Ambassador George Atcheson Jr. and four other victims of an Army plane crash, but chances of their surviving more than 24 hours in a death sea were so slender that almost no hope remained of finding them alive.

Three ranking officers from General MacArthur's strategic and operations staff also were among 10 passengers and crewmen lost when the B-17, inbound from Tokyo, crashed into shark-infested waters after running out of gasoline only 65 miles west of Pearl Harbor.

(Diplomatic sources in Washington said that despite Atcheson's vast knowledge of Japanese problems his apparent death probably would not delay arrangements for drawing up the peace treaty with Japan. Preparations for writing a preliminary draft already are well advanced, they said.)

Three men of the 13 aboard were rescued yesterday from the choppy sea, dotted with bright souvenir kimonos from Japan, and five bodies were recovered.

Those rescued were Capt. T. L. Rider of Ponca City, Okla., who suffered a broken arm, Col. Harvey Huglin of Fairfield, Ia., and a Sergeant Holland of Colmesneil, Tex.—probably Lee Chapman Holland, 20—who suffered head injuries.

Kicks Away Sharks

Huglin, who related in a radio interview that he kicked sharks away during his long night in the water, reported Atcheson said nothing as the big plane plunged toward the sea and destruction—"he only smiled very quietly."

The five bodies hauled up from the sea included those of Naval Capt. Randolph B. Boyer of Audubon, Minn., or Portsmouth, and Col. David Larr of Watertown, N. Y. Identities of the others were not announced.

Atcheson, who represented the United States at Pacific four-power conferences and many other vital meetings since the occupation of Japan, was enroute to Washington, accompanied by a small, expert staff of key Army officers, to discuss preliminaries to a Japanese peace treaty, high on the list of American diplomatic objectives.

3 Definitely Saved

There were eight crew members and five passengers aboard the converted B-17 when the bomber ran out of gasoline and, in rough seas, made the ill-fated landing. A sixth body was sighted but sank before it could be recovered. Searchers today were trying to find the five missing, among whom was Atcheson.

Not Identified

Except for Atcheson, the Navy did not identify the five missing men, nor did it say whether they were members of the unnamed eight-man crew or included unaccounted-for passengers.

(In Tokyo, the unofficial Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported that "in addition to the death of Ambassador Atcheson, SCAP (Allied headquarters) sources confirmed the plane crash deaths of Col. Carl A. Russell, Col. David Larr of G-3, Capt. Randolph B. Boyer, USN, and Capt. K. R. Still, the plane's pilot.")

(Larr's death was confirmed by MacArthur's headquarters but both Atcheson's and General MacArthur's offices said they had not been informed definitely of Atcheson's death.

MacArthur Shaken

(General MacArthur was said to be shaken by the news. Mrs. Atcheson still expressed the hope the ambassador might be found alive.

(An unofficial source said Army Capt. Cecil Sigmon was a member of the plane's crew.)

The pilot bypassed Little Johnston island, usually a routine fueling

HOT WEATHER BACK IN OHIO

Forecast Temperatures Will Jump Into 90-Degree Bracket Again.

Wet collars and sweat soaked handkerchiefs will fill Marion laundry hampers tonight as the temperature in Ohio again reaches the 90's, accompanied by high humidity. The weatherman—darn him—has promised no relief before Wednesday for the parched corn fields of the midwest. Only the Pacific coast is escaping the present heat wave, The Associated Press reported.

The forecasts for tonight says partly cloudy and warn with high humidity. Scattered showers is promised for Tuesday.

Thermometers throughout Ohio returned to their last week's readings in the 90's with the reading here at noon today standing at 82 degrees, a seven point jump over the reading Saturday. This 82 however was five degrees below yesterday's maximum 87. The minimum last night was 70. A year ago today the thermometer climbed to 84 and dropped to a low of 64.

Cleveland, 85. Somewhat higher temperatures were forecast for today.

No Relief Till Wednesday Seen for Midwesterners

By The Associated Press

Midwesterners and their parched corn broiled from the heat today after the third consecutive torrid weekend and there was little relief in sight before Wednesday at the earliest.

The U. S. weather bureau forecast continued high temperatures for the entire country today with the exception of the west coast and parts of the Rockies and the eastern seaboard. Slightly cooler weather was expected in northern Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana, but it was still warm.

A new cool air mass was expected by Wednesday in the midwest.

The thirsty corn group received little moisture over the weekend and there was none in prospect until after midweek

BRICKER'S ASSAILANT PRONOUNCED INSANE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 — A former capitol policeman who fired two shots at Sen. John W. Bricker, (R-Ohio), last month in the senate subway was found insane today by a district court lunacy jury.

William L. Kaiser, 49, who recently had been discharged from the capitol police force, followed Bricker into the subway on July 12 and shot at him with a .22 caliber pistol.

Both shots missed Bricker, and Kaiser was overpowered by capitol police.

Kaiser said he shot at Bricker because the Ohio senator, while attorney general of the state several years ago, had cost him money by a ruling he had made.

The jury deliberated only 15 minutes after hearing testimony from Dr. Winfred Overholser, St. Elizabeth's hospital superintendent, that Kaiser is suffering from "an organic brain disease."

8,000 Turn Out For Opening Day Events Of 97th County Fair

By MARY HERRING

The ninety-seventh Marion county fair opened yesterday with some 8,000 attending during the afternoon and evening, 5,000 seeing the night show. The closing date is Aug. 22.

Only a few of the prize cattle and chickens were at the grounds. Exhibitors were working until late last night in an effort to get their display booths in readiness. Deadline for most of the exhibits is this afternoon.

With the exhibits still being prepared, Marionites spent most of their time trying their luck at the numerous games of skill located on the midway and indulging in rides on the various amusement concessions.

Many of the tents showing industrial and business equipment were already erected and opened. One of the favored spots was located about half way between the gate and the grandstand. Two huge fans trained on passing pectators caused many of them to stop for a welcome breeze. After stopping most of them looked into the tent exhibiting plumbing supplies and were immediately drawn to a faucet suspended in the air by a wire with water apparently flowing from it into a tank. Several little boys and some big "boys", too, had to investigate further by sticking their finger in the flow to see if it was really water. It was, and the ingenious arrangement proved intriguing to all.

Along the midway, local residents could be spotted taking a chance on almost everything. About an average of every third person sported a cane and several were loaded down with other prizes which ranged from small statues to huge plush animal dolls.

Men, women and children took equal delight in munching on the various foods offered or winding their tongues around the cotton candy, coated apples and ice cream. Enjoyment was evident and if a little dribbled now and then a handkerchief came to the rescue.

Death Dodgers Show

The special program for entertainment opened at 2:30 p. m. and again at 8 p. m. The Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers staged a really "bang-up" performance of precision driving and daring crashes.

The grandstand was filled to overflowing for the afternoon show and the evening performance was staged before an even larger crowd. Spectators lined both the inner and outer fences and many stood on the grandstand steps.

Preceding the afternoon show, H. A. Mayers, secretary of the Marion fair board, welcomed the spectators in a brief speech then introduced Frank Farnsworth of Columbus, state director of agriculture.

Mr. Farnsworth complimented the local officers and all who participated in making the fair the success which it has been in other years and which it promises to be again this year. He stated that all county residents should feel pride in this event which is a culmination of 52 weeks of work in preparation. He commented on the huge floral arrangement of red and yellow gladioli which was placed in the center of the judges' stand, saying that although this was primarily an agriculture show and the flowere were quite appropriate, they were rarely used in some fairs.

Following Mr. Farnsworth's brief talk, a parade of the Dodgers' convertible coupes used in the show, representatives of the local Dodge dealer, Ardrey Motor Sales, and a fleet of 10-new Safety Cabs passed before the grandstand for review. The cabs, all new Dodge cars were painted black with white tops.

The procession went around the track once then all except the racing cars pulled into the center infield while the Dodgers staged a warming up period by running half on and half off wooden ramps built for that purpose.

The afternoon program included three runs on ramps of various heights; two cars running the ramps at the same time and later crossing lanes on the stretch, stock cars crashing through burning walls, a motorcycle crashing a burning wall and later leaping from one ramp, over a car parked in the center, and coming down on another ramp, a slide by one of the drivers who fell from the rear of a speeding car and slid for about 50 feet and finally the climaxing crash dive of a stock car from a high ramp into a group of six car bodies.

The pace was speeded up for the evening program and the drivers came close to cracking up several times while doing their stunts.

Committee Charts First Principles To Guide Hemisphere Defense Action.

By The Associated Press

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 18—The Inter-American conference's first working committee began today a study of principles and other dispositions of a hemisphere mutual defense treaty.

The committee, which elected the Uruguayan foreign minister, Mateo Marques Castro, chairman, met soon after the Panamanian foreign minister, Ricardo Joaquin Alfaro, charged that "every Communist party in Latin America is a Russian fifth column." Alfaro declared growing conference sentiment "favors joint measures to protect the hemisphere against subversive influences."

The 20 nations conferring at the Quitandinha hotel near Petropolis, 45 miles north of Rio De Janeiro, were seeking means of joint action against aggression under a hemisphere defense treaty. The full conference was to meet at 4 p. m.

The informant said nobody from the United States was on any of the slates chosen by delegates in a closed meeting last night preliminary to today's election of presidents, vice presidents and rapporteurs for committees on principles, aggression and treaty execution.

The U. S. delegation had announced its intention not to seek chairmanships. Smaller committees already have organized. Memberships of the big committees were made public yesterday. U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall was not on any of them.

Alfaro gave his views on communism in an interview.

"Russia today is a world enigma," Alfaro said. "Its policy is one of expansion. Its creation of

Marion and Wyandot Counties To Carry Conservancy Dam Fight To District Court

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 18—The Scioto-Sandusky Protest Association is planning to send a number of Wyandot and Marion County land owners to a hearing to be conducted in the conservancy district court in Columbus, Sept. 12, on a proposed amendment to increase the purposes of the district.

The controversial point of the hearing before the common pleas judges of the 17 counties in the district is the proposal to include the purpose of insuring and maintaining a water supply for municipal and industrial users. Believed to be particularly interested in pushing that proposal are the municipal governments and industrial interests at Columbus and Fremont.

Temporary officers of the Protest Association who called the meeting here were elected as permanent officers of the group. They are, Lewis Anderson of Marion, president; Emerson McKelvy of near Marion, secretary, and Ray Anderson of Lafayette, treasurer.

Progress Announced

Speakers at the meeting here, in addition to the officers, were Attorney H. L. Mason, Walter Will and Attorney Russell C. Price of Upper Sandusky. They explained and discussed the proposed project and outlined steps required in making a fight against the proposals. David H. Sears of nearby Harpster proposed land owners in the area be assessed 10 or 20 cents an acre to provide funds to carry the battle to hearings at Columbus and Washington. The assessment plan will be further considered at a future meeting. Expenses of the group have been so far financed by contributions received at previous meetings.

The conservancy district proposals being promoted by the association are contained in engineering survey reports made by the engineer staff of the district under the supervision of U. S. Chambers of Commerce, consulting engineer.

The proposed [illegible] would [illegible] dusky river north of Little Sandusky and another just south of Upper Sandusky and still another in Broken sword creek near Nevada.

These and other dikes, dams, levies and channel changes would cause the formation of a Summit Land lake which would cover portions of four Marion county townships and most of the southern half of Wyandot county.

The lake or reservoir, would cover 48 square miles and cover with stored water a total of 13,000 acres in Marion county and 18,000 in Wyandot county. Depth of the lake would vary from a few inches where gentle slopes would form the edge to nearly 70 feet in proposed harbors and it would entirely cover the present towns of Harpster and Little Sandusky. Harpster would be relocated by the plans on the south and east and Marion business in three cities.

Couple Rescued As Car Plunges Into Olentangy River

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Aug. 18—A Columbus couple was rescued yesterday from the roof of their automobile after they became marooned in the Olentangy river two miles south of nearby Stratford because neither could swim.

Sheriff Earl Fravel said his deputies, state highway patrolmen and passersby battled high water and heavy currents to reach Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Bender, 30 and 45, of 131 South Midland avenue, Columbus, whose car plunged into the river out of control during a midnight ride.

Fravel said the couple reported the accident occurred when their car a 1947 sedan hit a rough spot in the road and went over the bank into the stream. There were no guard ralls along the road at that spot, he reported.

The sheriff reported that after two hours the marooned couple were rescued uninjured by boats. Four lads, Wesley Nichols of Route 3 Delaware; Frank J. Mills, Route 2 Delaware; Wendell W. Wright and Eugene Speicher of near Delaware, swam out to the car with a rope which was used as a guide line for the rescue boat. Nichols suffered an attack of cramps while swimming out to the three-quarters immersed car and was taken to Jane M. Case hospital Delaware where he was treated and released yesterday. The Benders, who escaped injury, were taken to Columbus by Sheriff Fravel.

Director Orders Thaw In Ohio Liquor Freeze

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 18 — State Liquor Director Dale Dunlap today disclosed the freeze on liquor purchases by the state would be relaxed "slightly" this week to replenish stocks of Scotch and a few brands of whisky.

Dunlap withheld the names of the brands to be purchased but said the orders would go to companies whose stocks were popular and in short supply now, and "who have played fair and have not tried to overload the department."

The buying freeze was ordered shortly after Dunlap took office July 1 because of a $42,000,000 inventory bulging state warehouses.

There have been no freeze on warehouse stocks by retailers or on state store stocks by the public, Dunlap said, the supplies of most brands are still plentiful.

U.S. ILLNESS SHOWS DROP

Only 2 Diseases Running at Higher Rate This Summer Than Last.

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Science Writer

New York, Aug. 18—Statistics showed today that on the whole Americans are suffering less communicable disease this summer than in 1946.

The statistics were from the United States public health service which reported only two of nine important communicable diseases were running ahead of the median incidence, based on the five-year period prior to 1946.

These two diseases were influenza and whooping cough. A reduction, however, was reported in the number of cases of diptheria, measles, meningococcus meningitis, poliomyelitis, scarlet fever, smallpox and typhoid and paratyphoid fever.

The public health service broke the disease incidence down as follows:

Influenza—A very slight excess of reported cases. The excess was confined to the South Atlantic region, where reported cases were running about 60 per cent above the median.

Whooping Cough — Incidence running at a level 39 per cent above the median level. The excess in the current period was reported especially marked in the east north central and west south central states; less marked in the New England, west north central, south Atlantic, east south central and mountain states, and non-existent in the middle Atlantic and Pacific states.

Diptheria—Reported cases running below last year's cases and the 5-year medians. No large section of the country in which current incidence was significantly higher than that for 1946.

Measles—Cases were lower than median norms in all sections except the east and west north central and east south central areas, and even in these sections the excesses were relatively slight for measles. For country as whole, the number of cases 22 per cent below median figure.

Meningococcus Meningitis—Current incidence lower than that recorded last year.

Poliomyelitis—Only in the Pacific coast states was the current incidence of reported cases of infantile paralysis running at a level above the 1942-46 median for the area.

Scarlet Fever—Number of cases reported 31 per cent below median. Every section of country sharing in the low reported morbidity from this case.

Small Pox—Reported cases far below 1946 figures.

Typhoid and ParatyPhoid Fever—National totals of reported cases less than median norms for the same intervals continuously since Jan. 1.

The comparisons were based on the four week period of June 15 and July 12.

Veterinarians To Be Tested As Carriers Of Undulant Fever

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 15—An estimated 3,000 members of the American Veterinary Medical association will submit to blood tests during their annual convention here this week to determine if any are carriers of brucellosis, a cattle disease which produces undulant fever in humans.

U. S. public health service technicians will make the tests, said Dr. J. G. Hardenbergh of Chicago, executive secretary of the association, who explained veterinarians may have contracted germs of the disease and that repeated exposure has given them immunity not shared by other persons.

Dr. Hardenbergh said that brucellosis, which attacks swine and goats as well as cattle, affects animal reproduction and causes the death of their young.

Stamping out of rabies through vaccination of pets and control of vagrant dogs and wildlife will be given special attention at convention sessions opening today.

Hog mortality continues highest among farm stock, with "cholera the No. 1 killer," Dr. R. C. Klussendorf of Chicago, assistant executive secretary of the association, reported in an interview. One of every three hogs dies before it reaches market stage, he said.

The average age of the rabbit is from seven to eight years.

It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rexsol Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blemishes disappear—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Furnishing you with telephone service is a job calling for highly specialized workers. In order for us to fulfill our plans for expanded service, we need more maintenance men, linemen, installers and operators. It takes time to obtain and train technicians in these special skills. Our present staff is doing unusually well, but even the most willing workers have a limit to their capacities. As we increase our number of experienced workers, our ability to expand service faster will increase, too.

MORE PEOPLE ARE SMOKING CAMELS than ever before!

The "Choice of Experience"

The experience of smoking—and comparing—many different brands during the wartime shortage taught millions the differences in cigarette quality

YOU KNOW what it was like during that wartime shortage. You had to smoke one brand one day... another brand the next. And whether you intended to or not, you compared. That's how so many people became real judges of cigarette quality.

That's how smokers everywhere discovered the full meaning of the phrase, "Camels suit my 'T-Zone' to a 'T'"... that's why now, when smokers can get any cigarette they want... Camels or any other brand... the demand for Camels is the greatest in the 34-year history of this famous brand.

Try Camels today. Let your own taste and throat... your "T-Zone"... tell you why with millions of smokers Camels are the "choice of experience"!

Your "T-ZONE" will tell you... T FOR TASTE... T FOR THROAT... That's your proving ground for any cigarette. See if Camels don't suit your "T-ZONE" to a "T"

THE MORE I SMOKED OTHER BRANDS DURING THE SCARCITY, THE MORE I APPRECIATED CAMELS!

STEEL FIRMS SUED BY U.S.

Government Says Big Plants Conspiring To Jack Up Prices.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—The government opened its slugging match against high prices today and picked a heavyweight antagonist—the steel industry.

In a "cease and desist" action, the federal trade commission charged the nation's steelmakers with a conspiracy to fix prices and stifle competition.

The complaint filed last night contended that illegal collusion of pricing is fostered by the American Iron and Steel institute of New York and all of its more than 100 members, including the giant United States Steel Corporation.

There was no immediate industry comment.

The FTC declared that by "destroying price competition" steel producers are able to "dominate and manipulate the markets in which their unorganized customers and consumers must buy."

The FTC complaint came only a month after industry-wide price increases ranging around $5 to $7 a ton. In ordering them into effect, the industry ignored President Truman's request that it "wait and see" whether the coal wage settlement made price boosts necessary.

All the defendants were instructed to appear for hearing Sept. 19 and were allowed 20 days to file answers.

FTC's complaint strikes hardest at the "basing point" system of pricing. The government said it makes the delivered price of steel to a consumer identical, regardless of the length of freight haul, and anables the industry to operate "as though all mills were under one ownership and control."

Includes Big Producers

The complaint said the membership of the Iron and Steel institute inclues "all the important steel producers" in the country, and all are made answerable in the case.

However, 26 corporations were also named specifically. They include U. S. Steel and eight of its subsidiaries: Bethlehem Steel Corp., New York, and three subsidiaries: Republic Steel Corp., Cleveland, and two subsidiaries; Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., Youngstown, O., and one subsidiary; National Steel Corp., Pittsburgh, and two subsidiaries; Inland Steel Co., Chicago, and one subsidiary; Jones and Laughlin Corp., Pittsburgh; Americanl Rolling Mill Co., Middletown, O., and Wheeling Steel Corp., Wheeling, W. Va.

FALL IN U.S. OUTPUT SHOWN

In Dollars, Production Is at High but in Actual Goods Decline Appears.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—Measured in dollars, the nation is producing more than ever before but physical volume is below the wartime peak, the commerce department reported today. The difference is due to today's sharply higher prices

The value of goods and services produces in the second quarter of this year reached an annual rate of $226,000,000,000, $4,000,000,000 above the 1945 high

In physical volume the total was above all previous peacetime levels, but below the war peaks

The department also pointed out that while the rate has been going up, it is not climbing as rapidly as it did in 1946.

There are other ranger signals the repartment added:

▶Investment in New construction fell to an annual rate of $9,500,000,000 in the second quarter from $10,500,000,000 in the first.

▶Inventory accumulation fell to a net increase of $1,500,000,000 from $5,400,000,000 in the last 1946 quarter.

Exports in the second quarter this year were at an annual rate of $10,600,000,000, twice the annual rate of the last 1946 quarter. But government economists fear that this may drop if foreign nations do not recover.

Along with "moderate" wage and salary increases, individual spending continued to climb. First quarter business profits were also higher than in the last 1946 quarter.

At the same time, personal savings showed a decline. In the fourth 1946 quarter the annual rate was $12,600,000,000. In the second 1947 quarter it was $11,000,000,000.

LABOR ENTERS HISTORIC WEEK

Taft-Hartley Law To Become Fully Effective Friday, Aug. 22.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 — America moved today into a memorable week in the history of labor-management relations—the week when the last and biggest chunk of the Taft-Hartley law goes into effect.

The big date is Friday, Aug. 22, actually performed, and engaging the law over President Truman's protests

Unions, for the first time under federal law, will be subject to prosecution before the national labor relations board for such practices as coercing employes, refusing to bargain, forcing an employer to pay for work not actually performed, and enacting in jurisdictional strikes and certain kinds of boycotts.

Some provisions of the act took effect June 23, but the full weight of the vast policy changes decreed by the Republican-controlled congress will not be felt until Friday

Non-Unionists Protected

The NLRB, which has spent 12 years protecting the rights of workers who want to organize into unions, now will protect—in addition—the rights of workers who don't.

It also will protect the rights of employers.

On Friday the NLRB will split, in effect, into two separate agencies: (1) a five-man board, which becomes a labor court, and (2) the "office of the general counsel," headed by Robert N. Denham.

Here are a few of the questions that must be decided either this week or later:

▶How to handle the prosecution when an employer and a union accuse each other of "unfair labor practices."

▶Whether to rule that the construction industry is in interstate commerce and therefore under the new law.

▶Just what to do about the thousands of old cases already pending

▶To what extent the CIO and the AFL themselves—as well as their affiliated unions—must comply with the provisions for filing financial statements and non-Communist affidavits.

3 Days Remain

After today, only three days remain in which unions and employers can sign closed shop, union shop and other "union security" contracts in the customary unrestricted manner. Contracts signed before Friday can run one year, no longer.

Starting Friday, the making of new closed shop contracts is forbidden. In a closed shop contract the employer agrees to hire only union members and to fire all non-union members.

The Full Grain in the Ear

CORN wasn't knee-high by Fourth of July this year, but it's high enough now, as a look at the market quotations will attest. Nevertheless, high prices won't stop your true corn gourmot from denuding many a brace of roasting ears, cooking, basting with gobs of butter, seasoning and devouring with gusto, not to mention relish.

Table manners are secondary when baring the fangs at a well-lubricated, well-seasoned spike of Country Gentleman or Golden Bantam. What matters if a golden driblet of butter commingles with the whiskers on such an occasion? Who's to tell if all the niceties of etiquet aren't observed or if the ear isn't impaled on sterling silver holders? Indeed, corn is good, stout farm fare to be eaten without ceremony and without effete bourgeois affectations. Serve it forthwith.

Corn on the cob is as American as roast turkey and as palate-satisfying. In the days when they could be choosy about food, Europeans turned up their noses at corn. Is it any wonder the typical American, since the days of Jefferson, has had a tendency to be suspicious of all things European? Anyone who doesn't relish corn on the cob just hasn't had good fetching-up.

Exposing "Courthouse" Lee

AT LONG last, retribution is catching up with Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, remembered with no affection by many a former GI congressman, and Gen. Eisenhower promise there will be investigations, now that his lavish mode of living and fantastic ideas of discipline are being brought to light via the press.

Stories of strutting "Courthouse" Lee have been making the rounds in the Army since long before Pearl Harbor. The gift of Junction City, Kan., to military science has been eating high on the Army hog for years. His grandiose ideas of the privileges of rank are hardly befitting in a democratic army. Virtually every enlisted man who came under John C. H.'s command has some unpleasant experience to relate.

It is one thing to maintain a highly-disciplined "spit and polish" outfit. It is another to set up a despotic rule based on privilege, politics, caprices and the liberal use of punishment. Fear infests such a command like a virus; morale is nil.

Perhaps the fact the Army's enlistment program is falling behind schedule can be traced to the likes of John C. H. Lee. It took a series of newspaper articles to bring his high, wide and handsome career to the chief of staff's attention. Now that the matter has been brought into the open, Army brasshats might look on lower levels for some who have patterned their careers after Gen. Lee. If they look hard enough they'll find them.

UN Faces a Test

INDICATIONS are that the Dutch will be overruled in their contention that the Indonesian strife isn't a matter for UN arbitration. If Belgium brings the Dutch contention to a vote in the security council, it is possible the United States and Russia will be on the same side for once, and the majority of the council with them.

Meanwhile there are reports the fighting is going on with unabated fury. The Dutch have suspended their drive toward the Republican capital but are engaged in cleaning out areas they officially term "occupied." The Indonesians fight on, too, carrying out what they term "protective and mopping-up action."

It's a simple test the security council faces—to make a decision and enforce it. The deep inner fission which exists in the council on so many issues doesn't exist here. If the council allows this issue to become lost in a maze of legalistic double talk and ineffectual stalling, the UN is indeed an impotent instrument.

Travel Note

ARTHUR A. CALDWELL, Australian immigration commissioner visiting in this country, has let it be known his country will welcome American settlers and pay $160 apiece to the war veterans among them. Australia hopes to triple its population of 7,500,000 in the next 25 to 50 years for the "new Japanese aggression" many Australians expect.

Mr. Caldwell might do better concentrating on the dp's of Europe and the excess population of the war-weary British isles. Except for a few expatriate rich and the nobility-marrying heiresses, an American birthright never was a possession casually parted with. Now it is more prized than ever. Not many among us would trade American for Australian citizenship these days—not even those who are most outspoken in their criticism of America.

Did You Know

The location of the Treasury building in Washington, out of harmony with the original plan for the city, was chosen by President Jackson who stuck his cane in the ground to indicate the site.

Of the 412,851 producing oil wells in the United States, 71.8 per cent are classified as "stripper," or high-cost wells. They account for 12.9 per cent of total production.

The Sedition Trial Ends

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Government Fails To Make a Case.

ON JULY 31 the mass sedition cases which started in 1941 ended. It ended because the government had no case. No matter how hard the department of justice tried to do something about it, it never succeeded in establishing facts, provable in an American court by American rules of evidence, that a number of individuals, jointly or individually, had committed acts of sedition.

The United States court of appeals gave the department of justice until July 31 to appeal against dismissal to the supreme court. The department let the case go by default. O. John Rogge, who built something of a career on this case, never was able to establish the guilt of the defendants. In fact, he was dismissed by Attorney General Tom Clark and the case was turned over to Irving Shapiro, who treated it apparently like a dead cat that nobody wanted to touch.

Dismissal Statement

Finally, in November, 1946, counsel for the government and defendants met with Justice Bolitha J. Laws, who dismissed the indictments, saying:

". . . Where it appears, as here, there is serious doubt as to the success of the case, and that the defendants, because of long delays granted over their objections, cannot obtain a fair trial, the court should exercise its discretion to deny prosecution. It would be both unjust and un-American to do otherwise."

Then he said:

"Under the circumstances, to permit another trial, which conceivably would last more than a year, with new prosecutors and newly appointed counsel for defendants, with the eventual outcome in serious doubt, as Mr. Rogge (government counsel) has stated to the court on three occasions, would be a travesty on justice. I have no doubt the cases should be dismissed and an order to that effect will be entered as to all defendants."

Appeal Denied

The government appealed from that decision and lost, the court holding:

". . . That where there has been a lack of due diligence in the prosecution of a case the trial judge may dismiss and his order will be sustained on appeal unless there has been a clear abuse of discretion . . ."

The attorney general might have taken the case to the supreme court, but he did not because obviously there was no case. So now it is all over and those who were once under the cloud of sedition are cleared by the courts of the United States which alone can declare a man guilty of a crime.

The sedition trial was planned to be a mass trial in imitation of the German and Russian mass trials. Thrown together were incongruous personalities. Oliver Wendell Holmes once said:

"Sovereignty is a form of power, and the will of the sovereign is law because he has power to compel obedience or punish disobedience and for no other reason. The limits within which his will is law then are those within which he has, or is believed to have, power to compel or punish."

Position Made Clear

According to this doctrine the law possesses no moral character. If those who possess power wish to use the law as an instrument for the suppression of opposition, it is sound for them so to use the law, provided that they can get away with it. Under this instrumentalist theory the law becomes a bandit. Holmes made his amoral position clear in this sentence:

"Just so far as the aid of the public force is given a man he has a legal right, and this right is the same whether his claim is founded in righteousness or iniquity."

The theory then behind the sedition trials was that if this conglomeration of unrelated persons, many of whom did not even know each other, could be convicted, a precedent would be established that the law could be used in this country as an instrument of political force and coercion. On that basis, any member of any opposition party could be indicted and convicted. It would be easier and less expensive than holding an election.

This is Nazi justice; this is concentration camp justice. It has no place in American life whether the defendants are popular or distasteful.

A WPA for Silkworms?

The president of the American Sunbathing association, citing the rate at which nudism is growing, predicts nobody will be wearing clothes 10 years from now.

One has thought, after seeing the fall fashion previews, that the trend was the other way.

Still, if the gentleman is correct, the outlook is a bleak one for suit and garment workers.

Moreover, what's going to happen to the nation's button industry?

Millions of people have earned their living in the apparel trades since someone first designed a different model fig-leaf.

And, unless I miss my guess, they will continue to do so. Whatever the Sunbather's spokesman thinks, some women will always continue to wear clothes . . . if only to be different.

A Record of Inflation

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—What has taken place since John L. Lewis got a wage rise for his United Mine Workers on July 8, composes another chapter in the economic history of the country since the war ended. This chapter, and the postwar history as a whole, is a record of inflation. Not to say this would be a silence having the effect of double-talk. Of that there has been too much already.

What has gone on since the coal wage rise includes some unhappy utterances from the Truman administration. One attributes these utterances to the administration rather than to Mr. Truman personally, for neither Mr. Truman nor any other one man could write personally all the statements which as President he signs or takes responsibility for.

Must Rely On Others

This condition is inseparable from the presidency. The statements and documents which the President puts out deal with an immense number and wide range of subjects, many of them highly technical. Many of the statements are required by law, such as annual messages to congress on the state of the union, veto messages and the like. Others are put out voluntarily because the president, in many cases wisely, feels they are called for; some without doubt are suggested to him by advisers. The total is enormous. In some periods the statements and documents put out by the president make a larger total of words than could readily be composed in the same periods by a professional writer having nothing else to do and dealing with a subject in which he is expert.

Necessarily the president must rely upon others, both for ideas and in some cases without doubt considerable sections of his statements. In the statements Mr. Truman gave out about the wage rise in coal, and its effects and subjects related to it, one assumes that Mr. Truman accepted much from those who act as his economic advisers.

The wage rise in coal was made on July 8. One week later Mr. Truman gave out a statement. It cannot be repeated entirely—newspaper writers and publishers are subject to limitations which do not hamper the government printing office. The opening paragraphs of Mr. Truman's statement said:

"Deep concern is expressed in many quarters over possible results of the recent settlement between the miners and the coal operators. It is widely feared that this settlement may lead to a substantial increase in the price of coal . . . . (and) induce an increase in some commodity prices."

Mr. Truman's phrase "possible results" implies uncertainty about consequences of the wage rise in coal. In another paragraph Mr. Truman used equivalent words, "uncertainty" and "whether." The paragraph began: "In view of the uncertainty as to whether or how much mining costs of coal may be raised."

A few days later, July 21, Mr. Truman again expressed views about the wage rise in coal and its effects. This expression was in the course of a long document some 30,000 words, a formal report sent to congress on the whole economic condition of the country. The passage dealing with the effects of the wage rise in coal had the same atmosphere as his former statement.

In long and complicated sentences, with qualifying words and clauses, in some passages using the form of a question rather than a statement, Mr. Truman's economic report left an impression that the wage rise in coal need not be followed by price increases, certainly not material increases. He dwelt upon the extent to which the wage rise could be absorbed by the industry: "Coal operators now have the opportunity to demonstrate the efficiency of private management." . . . . Mr. Truman dwelt also upon the extent to which the wage rise in coal might be taken out of profits. The atmosphere of what Mr. Truman said implied that neither in the coal industry nor in the industries which use coal as fuel need there be what he in one passage designated as "excessive" price increases.

Price Increases Cited

He deprecated the notion that the success of Mr. Lewis in getting a wage rise might lead other labor leaders to make demands for wage rises in other industries. What the economic report said about the amount of the wage rise Mr. Lewis got, and its relation to wage raises in other industries, was characterized by a writer competently informed in this field, J. A. Livingston, in "The Washington Post." His phrases for it were "an interlacing of words" and "sophistry by inference."

Whether there will be further demands for wage rises by labor leaders in other industries has not yet appeared definitely. But the other effects of the wage rise in coal are here; they were taking place at the very time when Mr. Truman was telling the country they need not be. There have been increases in the price of coal, followed by increses in the price of steel, followed in turn by increases in the prices of automobiles. The spiral of the inflation mechanism is under way.

Presumably Mr. Truman got his ideas from economic experts. Any peanut vendor could have told him with wage rises are followed by price increases and that the price increases tend to spread and pyramid.

It was Wednesday, Aug. 18, 1937.

More than 300 Americans fell to the decks of the Dollar liner President McKinley at Shanghai, to escape three fusillades by Chinese snipers. The passengers were frightened earlier when bombs from Japanese warplanes fell uncomfortably close to the ship in the Yangtze river.

It was Thursday, Aug. 18, 1927.

C. P. Oleson, former army flier and mail pilot, established a flying field at a farm at the corner of Madison avenue and East Fairground street. He said his purpose was to stimulate interest in commercial aviation and help start a movement for a municipal airport here.

J. P. Lawrence of Seattle, Wash. was the guest of his nieces, Mrs. Ethel Neal of East Church street and Mrs. Frank McKeever of Oak street. It was the first time he and his nieces had met in 40 years.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Evans and son Chester of Lincoln avenue left on a two weeks' trip to Louisville, Ky. and Indiana.

C. C. Fisher and daughter Hope of Mt. Vernon avenue sailed for home from Havre, France aboard the steamer France.

Lion at Truman's Heels

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—When President Truman tells his press conference that there is "no need" for a special session, he is talking drivel. The president is in the position of a man armed only with a rifle which may explode when fired, and hotly pursued by a very large, very hungry lion. Such a man might conceivably take his chances on outrunning the lion rather than firing the rifle. But he would certainly not blandly declare, as he fled pell-mell across the wastes of the veldt, that he had no need for a weapon.

The lion is at the president's heels, whether he notices it or not. In Britain, an economic crisis has already shaken the powerfully entrenched Labor government to its very foundations. Yet the British crisis only came so soon, precisely because the British government was strong.

The British still have nearly $4 billions of credits, dollar assets and gold. The cause of the crisis in London was not the final exhaustion of their cash reserves. A run on the British treasury merely brought home to the government how fast their situation was deteriorating. The crisis resulted from the government's courageous decision to halt this deterioriation by the harshest and most unpalatable measures. The crisis was a sign, in truth, that Britain is in a state of glowing health compared to other key nations in western Europe.

Italy a Danger Spot

Take, for example, the situation of Italy. Italy, still more than Greece, commands the Mediterranean. If the battle for Italy between the western and Soviet systems should end in Soviet victory, the resulting pressure upon France would be almost irresistible. At the moment, the Italian Communists are reported by most competent observers to be losing ground. But the financial foundation of the government of Premier de Gasperi is fundamentally and terrifyingly insecure. President Truman, if he understands his historic role, should tremble at a mention of the name Rome.

Like all the western European nations, Italy exists by imports. For the year 1947, there has been a gap between Italian exports and Italian imports variously estimated from $600 millions to $750 millions. By every kind of device, from using up the remnants of UNRRA to borrowing in Washington, the Italian government has covered most of the gap this year.

The fact is, however, that the Italian reserves of hard money with which to buy abroad are now running appallingly low. Again there is some argument among the experts. But it is pretty definitely established that by December, the unhappy de Gasperi will have to tap his last emergency reserve in order to put food in his people's mouths and fire in his factory furnaces. The whole Italian emergency reserve consists of about $20 millions of gold and $80 millions of government controlled dollar assets. When this small sum is spent—a moment which must inevitably come about the new year or a little later—there will not be a nickel left.

Cupboard Will Be Bare

Italy will then have no remaining liquid assets to get supplementary food for her people, unless the hunted de Gasperi chooses to hold an auction of the contents of the Pitti, Uffizi and Vatican museums. These facts are agreed to by the American administration's highest economic experts. And they take fully into consideration the recent settlement of Italy's wartime accounts with the United States, the so-called grant in aid for relief shipments and all other favorable factors.

It is hard for Americans, with our almost over-prosperous economy, to graps the meaning of such a set of facts. They mean three things. First, during the crucial period immediately ahead, the Italian government will be repeatedly rocked by financial panics with resulting political instability. Second, the government will ultimately be driven to heavy cuts in the already inadequate Italian rations—something which the brilliant Communist leader, Palmiro Togliatti, must pray for every night to his Marxists Gods. And third, not even the quickest imaginable congressional action on the Marshall plan at the regular session can come nearly soon enough to rescue the situation.

Also Ramadier

Premier de Gasperi in Rome, like Premier Ramadier in Paris, knows that his situation is deteriorating rapidly. Both he and Ramadier (whose problems are also serious) lack the strength, however, to survive the kind of preventive crisis Prime Minister Attlee has been experiencing. They can not win support, in their still divided countries, for such spartan measures as the British have adopted. Consequently, they are simply spending what they have on hand, and hoping for the best. When the blow-up comes (as it surely must) they will apply to Washington for aid.

Already Rome bombards the Italian embassy here with warnings, and Italian representatives mournfully transmit the warnings to the state department. The officials of the state department answer by urging the Italians to hang on as best they can. They also hint that somehow or other the Italian government will be thrown a life belt when it has sunk for the second time. But where the life belt is to come from, no one knows. Surely this is a poor way to deal with a world crisis which involves the whole American future.

Which two blue eys undershine,
Like meek prayers before a shrine,
And her smile, it seems half holy,
As if drawn from thoughts more far

Deep Water Divers Seek Copper Hoard In Wartime Hulls

By The United Press

LONDON—A record deep water salvage operation has been undertaken by Italian and British divers who will attempt to recover about $1,366,000 in copper bars from the sunken French freighter Alaska, lying nearly 400 feet deep on the Isle of Wight.

The 5,398-ton Alaska, laden with 2,500 tons of copper, collided with the French ship Dotterel in the pitch blackness of a foggy night during the early war blackout. It was the night of Nov. 15, 1939. Mortally damaged, the Alaska floated aimlessly for hours before she went to the bottom.

Her position was unknown for nearly eight years. Early in July of this year she was located and definitely identified. But she was in deep water and where tides were to strong and savage gales arose so swiftly that salvage seemed impossible.

The Admirality, which charted the position of ships sunk during the war, said she was one of the few remaining hulks unsalvagable. Most of the vessels closer to shore were stripped of cargo of value, then blown up, if they represented a shipping hazard, the Admiralty said. The only valuable cargoes left were those in depths too great or waters too dangerous to be reached until now.

New Equipment Used

An Italian salvage firm, the Sorima company, before the war specialized in deep sea salvage jobs. The company devised equipment of a new type which resulted in successfully stripping the P. & O. (Peninsular and Oriental) liner Egypt of some $5,000,000 in gold and silver.

The Egypt, also sunk in collision, lay in 420 feet off Ushant or Uessant Island, west of Brest. Here the tides and gales areas dangerous as they are south of the Isle of Wight.

The British salvage firm undertaking the Alaska salvage, Risdon Beazley, Ltd., called on the Sorima company for technicians. The British company chartered a royal naval salvage vessel, the Lifeline, and borrowed special equipment personnel also came from Italy to from Sorima. Skilled engineering help in the salvage task.

Deepest salvage tasks undertaken previously by British concerns were about 180 feet. With new techniques the field of operations now has extended to twice that depth, but the value of cargoes would have to be considerable before salvage at those depths would be undertaken.

Your Attorney Would Advise It—

The next time you have occasion to talk with your attorney, ask him what he thinks of the idea of prearrangement for funeral service.

It is safe to predict that he will tell you it is the sensible thing to do. Attorneys often come in contact with cases where estates have been entangled by hastily made funeral arrangements. And, too often, the amount spent for a funeral is far more than your own estate plans would invest.

These are reasons why we advocate advance arrangements for funeral service. Many of our patrons are adopting this sound and sensible plan.

"Mister, I can lift 'em with my little finger"

Well I'm no Samson, but I can hoist the heaviest hood you ever saw with one finger . . .
And I like to do it, for a lot more reasons than the exercise . . .
There's nothing keeps an engine—old or new—in sweeter shape than Shell X-100. That's the oil with the "X" safety factors . . . and the only way to sell a car needs it is to get a look at the oil bayonet.
So I'm hiking and hoisting hoods all day—and I find an average of 4 customers out of 5 need oil and don't know it! But while keep business—which I'm strictly in favor of—there's a real kick in helping make folks' cars last longer.

Speaker Explains Religious Movement at Service Here

A new Christian and missionary effort, a "Christ for the World" movement, was explained Sunday night at the union service for Marion churches by its organizer, Dr. J. Campbell White of Mansfield. The service was held in Trinity Baptist church. Rev. R. W. Faulkner read Scripture, and Dr. V. E. Busler offered prayer. Rev. J. B. Holloway, host pastor, presided. Special music was by a quartet composed of Mrs. R. A. Maxim, Mrs. Harold Smith, F. H. LeMasters and Harwood Taylor, accompanied by Mrs. Cecil Davis.

Dr. White, a Presbyterian minister and missionary worker, resigned his pastorate of a United Presbyterian church in Mansfield recently to give his entire time to the Christ for the World movement. Its purpose he explained is "to get the teachings of Christ across to the youth of this country, and to get the church to look at the world as it is and to do something to reach the world for Christ."

Mentions Rally Here

He made special mention of the Christian and missionary rally which is being planned for Marion county the last week-end in September, at which time the layman, Robert G. LeTourneau, will speak here. Missionary speakers will also be heard at that time. This program will be the second to be carried out in this special Christian and missionary venture which it is hoped will eventually sweep the country, arousing churches everywhere to a sense of responsibility for evangelizing the world. The three services of the rally will be sponsored here by the women's department of the Marion County Council of Churches on Friday night, Sept. 26, Kiwanis club, Saturday night, Sept. 27, and by the Marion County Ministerial association on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 28.

Subject of Dr. White's message was "Can Our Churches Evangelize America and the World?" He told of his earlier experiences of years of work as a layman among students in Calcutta, India, as a Y.M.C.A. leader there, and of work in New York City among children of an area which, a virtual "crime school" was changed greatly by a program of Christian education and recreation. First stress of his message was on widespread Christian education for young people in every community throughout the nation. He then presented statistics on missionaries and mission work throughout the world, emphasizing needed increase of support of missionary programs in non-Christian areas.

Points To Crime Cost

Large charts were shown illustrating various points of the message. The audience was informed that in this country cost of crime every year is 10 billion dollars, while to reach the youth of the land with Christian teaching would cost but 1 per cent of that amount. Other figures gave comparison of population, with that of the non-Christian world ten times that of the United States, and need for missionaries listed at 560,000 while only 18,000 are on all fields. He said millions of people in the world are underfed, that "half the world cannot read, half have no qualified doctors," and that "Christ is unknown to over half of the world."

A list of giving by various denominations to all church purposes and to missions, per member, for last year was shown. The average figure given was $1.02 a year, per member for foreign missions. Dr. White closed with a challenge that "If one fourth of all church members would give one tenth of their incomes to church purposes, and one fourth of that to world missions, the church could evangelize the world in our day."

Gen. Eisenhower announced Saturday the Army's inspector general would investigate.

Mutual Agreement Rules Out New Loan to Britain

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug 18—The issue of a new American loan went into the discard by agreement today as top-rank financial experts from both sides of the Atlantic assembled to hunt a partial solution to Britain's dollar crisis.

Sir Wilfred Eady, head of the British delegation, said that so far as his country is concerned a new credit to supplement the almost-exhausted $3,750,000,000 advance of 1946 is "not on the agenda."

That made it mutual.

American officials have emphasized that they will talk about modifying the present loan agreement to relieve Britain's economic distress, but will go no further.

ONE "BIG FOUR" RUBBER LABOR CONTRACT SIGNED

Goodyear Pact Inked as Goodrich Negotiations Precede.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18—With one of the "Big Four" rubber companies having reached its second 1947 agreement with the CIO Rubber Workers, representatives of the union and the B. F. Goodrich Co. opened sessions today.

Negotiations between the union and the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. ended Saturday in an agreement granting workers six paid holidays a year in lieu of further wage increases at the present

G. L. Patterson, general counsel for the union, said he hoped the settlement would become a pattern for pacts with the other "Big Four" companies—Goodrich, Firestone Tire and Rubber Co and U. S. Rubber.

An 11½ cent wage increase was granted employes of the four companies in March, but last month the union announced it would seek another wage boost

Goodrich and union officials indicated that outcome of a strike by CIO-URWA unionists at the firm's Tuscaloosa, Ala., plant might have some bearing on today's conference. After agreeing to to union demands for company-wide negotiations, Goodrich spokesmen later said they would not bargain on a company-wide basis during a strike.

WEATHER

with only local showers predicted then.

States from the Rockies through Ohio and from Texas to southern Minnesota sweated it out Sunday while both coasts enjoyed a pleasant Sabbath with some rain in the east, particularly in Pennsylvania.

Hottest point in the country Sunday was Yuma, Ariz., with 103 degrees and LaCrosse, Wis., Minneapolis, Lincoln Grand Island and Norfolk, Neb., Sioux Falls, S. D., and Sioux City, Ia., right behind with 100s.

The Wyoming valley near Wilkes-Barre Pa., received four and a half inches of rain Sunday which flooded creeks and caused landslides. A Pennsylvania railroad bridge was washed out near Nanticoke, Pa., and a landslide blocked the tracks of the Delaware, Lackawana and Western railroad near Shickshinny, Pa.

The hot air was expected to move slowly eastward with the eastern seaboard feeling rising temperatures after midweek. Normal weather was in sight for the Pacific area, forecasters said. Generally warm temperatures were also predicted for the southern part of the nation for the first half of the week.

Bargain-Hungry Housewives Storm Canadian Groceries

By The Associated Press

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 18—Grocers in this Canadian border city predicted today that American housewives are going to rush themselves right out of a good thing.

Detroiters have been invading Windsor by the thousands in recent weeks, attracted by the food bargains they can get under Canadian price controls.

Meat cuts costing from 55 cents to 79 cents a pound in Detroit have been selling from 35 to 69 cents a pound here. Eggs bought here at 45 cents a dozen cost 70 cents in Detroit.

But in the past weekend the bargain-hunting crowds from the other side of the Detroit river found signs that eggs were up to 60 cents a dozen. Hamburger that had been 35 cents had disappeared and in its place was ground roundsteak—for 45 cents a pound.

There are bargains yet to be found. Certain canned goods and meat still are under price controls. But food market officials said that the gap between Detroit and Windsor prices is getting smaller, as grocers mark up tags where they can to take advantage of the rush.

Saturday's lineups were typical of recent weeks. A four-block queue of American customers, loaded down with packages of meat, eggs, canned goods and vegetables, waited to be cleared at the customs.

Purchasers are allowed to take home $5 worth of foodstuffs with payment of a small duty.

Buses through the Windsor-Detroit tunnel were so loaded in the afternoon that officials limited to 12 the number of persons carrying food parcels allowed aboard each coach.

Storm Knocks Out Two Railways in Pennsylvania

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Aug. 18—Residents of the Wyoming valley in Pennsylvania's anthracite region today dug away the silt left by storm swollen streams that knocked out two railroad lines and did other widespread damage

One of the rail lines was disrupted when a bridge was swept away over the Black creek, near Nanticoke, Pa. The bridge carried the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad's Sunbury division between Wilkesbarre and Nanticoke.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad was blocked by a landslide at Hunlock creek, near Shickshinny, Pa.

Pennsylvania officials said at least three days will be required to repair the damage to Sunbury division tracks which connect with the Delaware and Hudson railroad and the Central of New Jersey.

COUNTY FAIR

On one in particular where two cars go over an 18-inch ramp at the same time, one on each side, the cars clicked as they touched in the middle.

The crash diver in the night show slipped his straps and was knocked unconscious for a few minutes when his head hit the top as the car hurtled through the air and landed upside down on the last two junk cars.

In a wheel-to-wheel turnover crash, the driver in the afternoon completed the roll, landing the car upright on the wheels but at the evening performance, a front tire blew out as he came over the lamp and the stock car landed up side down spilling gasoline from the upended tank.

To the enjoyment of the crowd "Filthy McNasty" a clown decked out in a rainbow colored suit, cavorted during both shows and kept spectators from becoming restless during the in-between periods

In addition to heckling the audience, several of his own "stunts" amused the watchers. One of these was when he rode a junior size bicycle through a flaming wall The only thing was the wall was hinged in the middle and the sides swing open unexpectedly letting the comic cyclist through safely.

A regular member of the Daredevil troupe, the rid-wigged comic, caused spectators no little alarm when he stood in the track in the path of the oncoming cars and even sat on one side of the ramp as the cars raced over the other half. His antics were amusing and the crowd watched with enjoyment when he dodged roman candle flares which shot from the front of a stock car while he was fixing the stage for another "stunt."

Comments from spectators heard after the two shows voted the first day's activities a huge success with the clown coming in for his share of the praise.

On Saturday the 93rd Ohio state fair opens at Columbus. The state exposition will run through Friday, Aug. 29.

ing stop 800 miles southwest of Oahu, and was making the 2,300-mile flight from Kwajalein direct to Oahu. Neither Navy officers here nor the Army in Tokyo would speculate as to why Johnston was bypassed One Tokyo source noted Johnston was "extremely difficult to locate in unfavorable weather."

"I have 25 minutes to the island and have 20 minutes' fuel," the pilot of the converted Flying Fortress radioed a few minutes before the crash-landing. The radio log of the Navy's Hawaiian sea frontier command showed the tower advised him "Your position is 100 miles from Oahu, 260 degrees true (approximately west) from Barber's Point, Oahu."

Last Messages

"Impossible to make Oahu," the pilot responded. And, at brief intervals, came these later messages from the plane.

"Number three engine out, at 2,200 feet altitude."

"Number two and three engines dead at 1,400 feet. Losing altitude."

"I'd better go ahead and sit down (crash land) while I have power from two engines."

"It's time for me to hit the water now."

Within minutes, radar operators on Oahu were directing 35 search planes on carefully-charted, parallel courses across the area, while a half-dozen surface craft steamed toward the scene.

The Coast Guard cutter Hermes rescued the three survivors Sunday morning, transferring them by small boat to the destroyer Rowan for the 65-mile trip to Pearl Harbor.

Col. Huglin, interviewed by radio and again when the Rowan reached Pearl Harbor, said "I believe the plane may have broken into several parts, for it sank quickly .... I don't know how I got out."

He last saw Atcheson, he said, "sitting in the center of the main cabin "I don't know whether he got out."

"So far as I know," he added, "none of Atcheson's papers were saved."

PLANE DELAYED AT GUAM BY ENGINE TROUBLE

By The Associated Press

GUAM, Aug. 18 — The special Army transport plane lost at sea west of Honolulu with Ambassador George Atcheson Jr., was delayed at Guam 26 hours by engine trouble, air force officers said today.

They said the plane was test-flown for three hours after repairs were made here, and left Guam in "top condition." It reached Kwajalein safely, refueled and took off for Honolulu.

Later the pilot radioed the naval command in Hawaii that shortage of gasoline was forcing him to land at sea. Why he did not stop at Johnston island, 700 miles southwest of Pearl Harbor, has not been explained. Johnston usually is a routine stop on their route.

Sailors aboard the destroyer Rowan said their whaleboat crew fought sharks with a fire ax as they rescued two of the three survivors and recovered three bodies.

One who talked with rescued Col. Harvey Huglin said the colonel related he kicked, splashed and twisted to drive off the sharks.

STRIP ARTISTS BATTLE

Fan-Dancer Rand, Striptease Sothern Wrangle in Court.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill, Aug. 18—Fan-dancer Sally Rand and strip-teaser Georgia Sothern were scheduled to appear here today in police court and Magistrate William Conway said the "admission is free."

Miss Rand is to answer a disorderly conduct charge brought by Mrs. Sothern who has charged that Sally and her manager—Georgia's husband — were together in a Springfield hotel room Friday night.

Harry Finkelstein of New York, Sally's manager, and the fan dancer were arrested in Sally's room after Georgia, who is appearing at a Concinnati night club, signed complaints and obtained warrants from Magistrate Conway Sally and Finkelstein were later freed on $500 bond each.

Sally told a reporter that Finkelstein was in her room to give her medicine prescribed by a physician for heart exhaustion which forced her to cancel her Illinois state fair sideshow Wednesday. Magistrate Conway said he issued the warrants because the presence of a man in a woman's hotel room can constitute disorderly conduct.

power lines. The widest part of the lake would be about seven miles across and would extend from a half mile south of Pleasant Grove school in Wyandot county to one mile south of Meeker in Marion county. The elevation of the natural and artificial boundaries of the flood water holdings would be about 900 feet above sea level.

Members of the association say very little of the land that might be used is of what is called marginal type and that much of it is the very best of productive farm land. They claim the loss in production of food would far outweigh possible benefits of the water conservation project, and that less destructive means could be found nearer at hand to insure the water supply of southern Ohio municipalities.

They also say the plans for shifting the water drained from the water-shed level near Brush Ridge to either side of the shed through a canal is of doubtful value since the reservoir would also be low in a dry time.

Fear Tax Rise

Officers of the association also pointed out the loss in tax valuation in Marion and Wyandot counties would cause a sharp rise in tax rate on the land left in production

In spite of all these strong reasons, the members say, they fear the project might be rushed through state and national legislatures at a time when public works are believed essential to maintain high employment levels

Marion Horses Win in Show

Two western horses, Smoky and Chico, owned by Mr. and Mrs Larry Hall of Harding Highway east, showed in the model class at a horse event at the Joe Louis ranch at Pontiac, Mich., Sunday. All of these horses will be seen at the Marion county fair this week. The Hall horse, Smoky, showed also in a stock horse stake at the Pontiac event, placing first. Smoky is winner of 16 blue ribbons so far this season in 11 shows, all in Ohio except the one at Pontiac. Chico is also winner of a number of blues and seconds, Mr. Hall said.

PRINTERS TALK NEW STRATEGY

Convention Studies Proposal To End Formal Signed Labor Pacts.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18—The nation's skilled union printers will decide in convention this week whether to do away with future contract-making in an effort to avert liability under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The act becomes effective next Friday—60 days after its passage and the day the printers conclude their 89th convention.

President Woodruff Randolph, one-time Chicago printer who now heads the powerful AFL-International Typographical Union (ITU), is advising the 835 delegates that the old policy of negotiating formal contracts with newspapers and commercial printeries be scrapped.

Wages and working conditions would result from an understanding between the parties rather than a formal written pact, by this method.

Sees "No Contracts"

Randolph, hard-boiled leader of 87,000 journeyman printers and 5,000 apprentices, expressed confidence to newsmen that "there will be no contracts after Aug. 22."

Whether that would mean labor warfare in the publishing business remained to be seen.

The Taft-Hartley act abolishes the closed shop, which the printers have fought for repeatedly, Randolph says.

Here's what the ITU president said in the edited-down version of his opening address to the convention Saturday:

"We believe that if it had been possible for our employers to dictate the terms of collective bargaining there would have been nothing like the Taft-Hartley bill. We have been successful; we want to keep on being successful, but because the Taft-Hartley bill has given them weapons for use against us is no reason why they should try to use them.

"If we choose, as free Americans, even under the Taft-Hartley law, not to make collective-bargaining agreements with them, we have that legal right. We have the right to choose not to make contracts, and if we don't make them we are free to do a lot of things that we are not free to do if we make them."

Pleads for Production

In much the same peaceful tone, Nat R. Howard of the Cleveland News, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, told the printers that "production, among other things means the secret of how to expand a craft."

"If you raise the production to the point where people with the money want to start production plants, you are enlarging and spreading your craft," Howard said.

In contrast, Howard had delivered a highly-critical speech to reporters at the American Newspaper Guild convention in Sioux City, in June. He said guildsmen were revealing bias in reporting on labor matters especially.

Randolph indicated the convention would take action on a proposal to invite the Amalgamated Lithographers Union—now in the CIO—to join the ITU, and he revealed in a speech yesterday that he hoped pressmen, bookbinders, stereotypers and photo engravers might same day merge with the ITU.

30 Per Cent of Ohio's Jobless Are Women

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 18—Three of every 10 Ohio job seekers are women, Frank J. Collopy, administrator of the bureau of unemployment compensation, reported today.

Collopy's report disclosed that the number of women on manufacturers' payrolls currently amounted to 20 per cent compared with 33 per cent during the war.

Despite an increase in women job hunters, the number of applicants dropped slightly Aug. 1 to 122,705.

The state employment service reported a three-month decline in the number of jobs available to Ohioans.

Charles Dickens and William Makepeace Thackeray who belonged to the same London clubs, and were giants of the Victorian novelists, were personal rivals and in one angry break didn't speak for five years.

Safety Cruiser Driver's Tests Set This Week

As part of a statewide campaign to increase safe driving the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce with the cooperation of city officials has arranged for the Safety Cruiser of the Standard Oil Co. to be in Marion this week.

The Cruiser, equipped to test an automobile driver's ability, will be located at Main and Center streets on Aug. 20-21. All persons having a driver's license are invited to take the tests. A Standard Oil attendant and two members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be on duty from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. both days.

The test will be divided into two classifications. The first is designed to determine the ability of the driver to see objects clearly and quickly, to estimate how close they are, to distinguish between red and green and to recover from glare of approaching headlights. The second group will demonstrate the driver's ability to steer as well as to stop his car and makes use of some of the latest test equipment and methods.

This is the second project of the public safety committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and is being presented to Marionites in the hope that the streets of Marion will be safer for both pedestrians and drivers. J. P. Sharkey, Marion division Standard Oil manager, arranged for the cruiser to be brought to Marion.

Doctor Says Hitler Slowly Was Poisoned During Later Years

By The Associated Press

NEURENBERG, GERMANY, Aug. 18—The record of an interrogation of a German doctor on trial for his life has disclosed a hint that Hitler may have been poisoned by slow degrees in the last years of his life.

The document is in the files of prosecutors who tried 23 Nazi SS doctors for inhuman experimentation.

It is a long-winded Nazi-inspired statement by Dr. Karl Brandt, hawk-nosed SS man who was the fuehrer's personal physician for a time and had entree to his circle of intimates.

It tells how Hitler surrounded himself with various women besides Eva Braun, and nightly "held court" like something out of the Arabian nights.

Brandt apparently didn't realize, or preferred not to realize, the implications of his story.

Hitler Gets Bellyache

He described sundry women who had the run of Hitler's Obersalzburg chalet above Berchtesgaden and then casually commented:

"Hitler began to suffer more and more from intestinal troubles. The diet assistant, a half-Jewess who had been sent by Field Marshal Antonescu (iron guard dictator of Rumania) had to be replaced."

Brandt doesn't himself know if there was any connection but American attorneys expressed astonishment that Hitler, the greatest Jew hater of all time, should trust a part Jew to prepare his food. Was his growing stomach and intestinal trouble purely a coincidence?

In any event, the half-Jewess was "replaced," whatever that means.

The doctor said that a "Miss Martiali" was engaged as diet expert.

"There was scarcely a day when Hitler did not stress the surprises prepared for him by Miss Martiali."

Hitler Not Naive

But Hitler wasn't quite as naive as Brandt, apparently, for:

"Hitler, who nearly always had taken his meals alone, invited Miss Martiali to his meals, pointing out that she ought to taste herself of the dishes she prepared."

If he suspected attempts previously to poison him, that is just the sort of thing a suspicious mind would hit upon.

Brandt said that this procedure became a fixation with the fuehrer to the point where it cut his own Eva Braun out of his company at mealtime. For instance:

"That went so far that even in Berlin Miss Braun had to recede and take her meals alone while Hitler took his lunch or supper together with Miss Martiali."

The doctor said this led to tension between the fuehrer and his mistress but never quite to an open break.

Sat on Hitler's Right

Hitler firmly insisted that Miss Martiali sit at his right at his nightly tea gatherings. These were attended by the same clique, ruled pretty much by Eva and her sister, Gretl, who married the SS general, Fegelein.

Occasionally, Brandt said, the wife of Martin Bormann would show up but she sat in a corner and never said much. Illuminating about Bormann:

"Her husband would have forbidden her any kind of independence." So that's why she kept silent.

Hitler disliked Mrs Rudolf Hess the most. Of course this was before Hess made his fantastic flight to England. After that, she no longer had entree.

Said Brandt:

"Whenever there was an opportunity to pronounce a deprecating judgment Hitler did so. He characterized her as being the type of a 'virago' ambitious to rule her husband and thus practically doomed to losing her 'womanliness'."

Brandt added as an afterthought that she probably was too "intelligent and sober-minded" ever to get close to Hitler, spiritually.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Red Blood Cell

Red blood cells are so tiny that millions of them swarm in one drop of blood, and yet for the formation of even one of these cells, which are microscopic or tiny disks, at least eight different food elements are necessary.

First essential is the amino acids from the proteins found in such foods as meat, milk, eggs and whole-grain cereals.

But these alone will not serve. Iron is necessary to form the coloring matter in the blood, and even when iron is present the process of making this coloring matter will not go forward without a small amount of copper. It is possible that tiny amounts of other minerals are also required. Iron is found in such foods as liver, beef, and the highly-colored vegetables. Copper is present in liver, cocoa and nuts.

According to Dr Grace A Goldsmith of New Orleans, vitamin C, as well as the secretion from the thyroid gland, and oxygen, are among the things that take part in the normal formation of red blood cells.

Then, there is a substance which has been called the hematinic principle, which is necessary for the completion of the building of red cells in the blood.

Though we know its use, the nature of the hematinic principle is something of a mystery. Apparently it is a combination of two substances, one of which occurs in certain foods, and one of which is secreted by the stomach. Today's best guess is that the food element in this combination is a part of the vitamin B-complex, which is obtained from such foods as whole wheat cereals, yeast and liver. At any rate, recent investigations go to show that a part of the B-complex known as folic acid may be a partial substitute for the hematinic principle.

In one way or another, all these various substances which are present in a well-balanced diet are necessary to the formation of normal red cells and if any one is missing, anemia results. This may mean either lack of coloring matter in the red cells or that too few red cells are present.

Thus, there may be a number of causes for anemia. It may develop when the diet is lacking in iron and other substances. It may occur because the digestion and absorption or taking up of food is interfered with. The red blood cells are built in the bone marrow. Any abnormal condition of the bone marrow may interfere with red blood cell formation.

Many anemias in children are due to a lack of iron in the diet. The body regulates the amount of iron which is taken up from the intestinal tract according to how much is stored in the tissues and what is required. Small amounts of iron are eliminated daily from the body through the intestines and the urine. Iron is stored in the bone marrow, in the liver, and in the spleen which is in the left upper part of the abdomen. The most common periods of life when more iron is absorbed are during growth in children and during child-bearing time, and breast feeding.

If anemia due to iron deficiency occurs in the male adult, it usually is the result of continued bleeding from such source. It may be due to long-continued diarrhea, or possibly a lack of acid in the stomach. In the female, the same conditions may cause the iron deficiency anemia. In addition, an inadequate diet, especially during child-bearing periods when demands are great, may also cause this type of anemia.

The treatment of anemia of this type consists of finding the source of the loss of blood and correcting it.

The diet should be rich in such foods as meats, oysters when available, beans, peas, leafy vegetables, and whole-grain cereals. Liver should be taken liberally unless there is some disorder present in which liver should not be used.

Iron in some form may be given, under the doctor's direction, three times a day, such as a preparation containing ferrous sulphate. Usually with such treatment, in three or four months the condition has been completely overcome. Adequate quantities of the B-complex vitamins, as well as vitamin C present in citrus fruit and tomatoes, are also necessary.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

L A S: Will you tell me if a leakage of the heart will show on an X-ray?

Answer: Leakage of the heart is not visible in the X-ray; however, when there is heart leakage, the heart is often enlarged and such enlargement will be visible in the X-ray plate.

COUNCIL AT GALION TO STUDY REPORT

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 18—A meeting of city council and consultants will be held to look over a report of Kansas City consultant engineers on the municipal light and power plant, Mayor William Amann announced today.

Report of the engineers, awaited since Aug. 10, was received by city officials over the weekend. It is a result of a study made by the engineering firm of Burns and McDonnell, several weeks ago to determine needs of the plant here to enable it to provide enough power for Galion manufacturers. Industrial leaders here have charged that the plant cannot give sufficient power for operating their electrical equipment, and previously asked council to hook up with outside power.

In June, power was shut off at the municipal plant so that needed repairs could be made, with manufacturers agreeing to give all employes a vacation of a week. Installing of replacements at the power plant made necessary another week of inactivity of the industrial plants, with resultant loss to both workers and industrialists, it is charged. It was at that time that the consultant engineers were called in. In July, council gave first reading of an ordinance proposing to hook up Galion power with an outside electrical substation, and an ordinance to advertise for bidders to furnish extra supply of power. A motion was passed to refer the matter to the electric light committee of the council which in turn advised no action until report of the consultant engineers had been received. The report will be made public following its consideration by council and committees tonight, Mayor Amann stated.

Lutheran Pastor Decides Not To Accept Columbus Call.

Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church, in response to a unanimous vote of the congregation to remain as pastor here, announced his decision yesterday to "stay at my present post." He had received a call from Grace Lutheran church in Columbus to become pastor there, the church where the late Dr. Robert E. Golladay had served 41½ years. Rev. Hollensen came to Marion Nov. 1, 1937.

It was voted by the congregation to proceed with a financial campaign for funds for a new educational building, estimated at cost of $160,000. This campaign will be undertaken by the church in the fall.

CUBS WIN 2 OUT OF 3 GRUELING GAMES WITH NEWARK

Bruins Lay Off Today, Start Series at Zanesville, Tuesday

By DON C. BURTON

The record books took a beating at Lincoln park over the weekend as the Marion Cubs and Newark Browns batting society held a three-session convention.

The Cubs won the opening parade, 11-10, Saturday night and then lost the Sunday afternoon slugfest, 20-19. The locals made it 10 wins in the last 13 starts by taking the final game last night, 5-3, in the only contest that slightly resembled a ball game.

During the series a total of 68 runs were made by the two teams as they touched 12 throwers for 89 base hits in the three games

The Cubs lost a half game in the league race as Zanesville won two yesterday and were rained out Saturday night.

At Zanesville Tomorrow

The locals have an off day today and will rest for the two-game series at Zanesville starting tomorrow night. The Dodgers are booked for two games in Lima tonight.

The biggest batting feature of the series was a trio of home runs over the right field wall in the afternoon game by Howard Palmer, Newark outfielder. He also hit a double that lacked only inches of clearing the wall near the same spot as the other three licks. Two men were on base for each of the homers giving him a total of nine runs driven over the plate in the game. He had had tripled for three runs in the Saturday night game also.

Dwight Maxhimer came nearest to matching the clubbing of Palmer. Dwight kicked one out of the park with two on base in the afternoon game and then hit an inside the park homer with one on in the finale John Smith hit the second homer of his career with a shot over the right field wall in the afternon game. John got the other homer in 1945 when he hit one inside the park at Newark.

Nelson Continues Hitting

Mel Nelson continued his hitting streak with three hits in the game Sunday night This made 11 straight games in which Mel has hit safely. He hit a triple here in a pinch-hitting role in the last game with Muncie and broke into the lineup regularly at Dayton a week ago yesterday.

Frank Smith won his third game of the week when he got credit for the win in the 12-inning Saturday night affair after taking over from Jitts Lawrence when Newark staged a nine-run eighth inning to knot the count and push the game into overtime.

The Cubs won the game in the twelfth inning when Don Bayless walked Roy Hollingshead with the bases full.

Win in 11th

Newark won the afternoon game yesterday with a run in the eleventh on a hit, an overthrow on a steal of second and a long fly to the outfield. Ed Witowski suffered his second defeat in three days when he took over the last inning with the score tied.

Jim Sabens outpitched Bon Brunner in the finale last night, after Maxhimer's circuit clout with Burbrink on base tied the score at two all in the fourth Three singles by Rasmussen, Nelson and Burbrink aided by a wild pitch gave the Cubs the game.

Zanesville Stays At Top by Twin Win Over Lima

By The Associated Press

Three of yesterday's Ohio State league twin bills were taken by league-leading Zanesville, Muncie, and Springfield while Newark bagged the season's highest scoring one-run victory, 20-19, in breaking even at Marion.

The Dodgers topped last place Lima, 10-3 and 9-7, to stay a healthy distance—4½ games—in front of Marion's Cubs in entering the season's last month of play. The class D circuit concludes its regular campaign, Sept. 21.

Muncie vaulted into third place the hard way, knocking off the Dayton Indian occupants with a pair of one-run decisions, 6-5 and 5-4 Springfield grabbed a pair from the Richmond Roses, 5-3 and 9-2

Cards, Dodgers Set for Crucial Series at Brooklyn

THE EEL WINS NO. 19 ON HATTON'S HOMER

Blackwell Comes Back with 2-0 Triumph.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18—Thanks to team and roommate Grady Hatton, Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds today needed only one more pitching victory to realize the goal he set for himself early in the season: 20 victories.

The lean righthander finally notched triumph No. 19 here yesterday as Hatton's 13th homer, a two-run drive high into the right-field bleachers, gave the Reds a 2-0 decision over the Chicago Cubs in the first game of a twin bill. The Reds clubbed out an easy 11-3 victory in the nightcap

Blackwell, who has lost five games, allowed only five hits, fanned 10 and issued three bases on balls in scoring his sixth shutout of the year.

In the second game, Hatton ran his runs - batted - in total for the day to four by driving in two more runs with a pinch single in the third inning.

The second game victory went to Ken Raffensberger, who gave up only seven hits, while the Reds were banging out 19 off Johnny Schmitz, the loser, Clyde Passeau and Charley Meers.

Cincinnati scored three markers in the second inning, four in the third, three in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Legion Edges All-Star Nine In Season's Windup Game

By GEORGE ROEST

Some 400 Legionnaires, their families and friends, took time out from other picnic activities at McKinley park yesterday to witness two Legion-aided baseball teams battle right down to the wire.

The American Legion junior squad pulled one out of the fire to stop a fast stepping bunch of All-Stars from the City Junior Baseball league, 3-2.

Bird-McGinnis post of American Legion had a big hand with both outfits. They were co-sponsor, with Lincoln-Mercury sales of the Junior Legion ball club and co-sponsors with the city playground recreation board of the league from which the All Stars were selected.

It was one of those ball games, which leave the loser feeling a few breaks would have changed the score and the winner feeling top-of-the-world satisfaction.

The winning run was pushed across in the last of the ninth. Bob Ralston singled and successive singles by Dick Thomas and Dick Taylor sent him home

The All-Stars had drawn first blood in the sixth when Al Estes doubled, stole third and came home on a wild pitch.

The Junior Legion came back in their half of the inning, scoring on a walk issued Taylor, another walk, and an error. They picked up another counter in the seventh. Thomas doubling, stealing, and going in on a passed ball.

It was the Star's turn to even things up in the eighth. Hill walked and was brought around by singles by Estes and Setter.

The game had been a pitching duel through the first six innings, Jack Owens issuing no hits until Estes' double and Clyde Seedle allowing only three and no runs.

He was then sidelined in favor of John Zimmerman off whom the juniors nicked the win.

This was the last game of the season for the American Legion Junior club. They closed the books with a record of seven wins against two defeats The City Junior league is scheduled for wind-up Thursday.

Smitty's Maids Spilled By State Champs 9-0

Smitty's Maids suffered a 9-3 setback at the hands of J. and K. Girls at Columbus in state tourney play yesterday. The J. and K. Girls are defending state women's softball champion. The Maids were scheduled to make another tournament start today.

Smitty's All-Stars lost to the Ohio Penitenuary there, 4-2, yesterday. As of Aug 10 the prisoners' club had won 75, lost 14 and tied one this year.

CLEVELAND BEGINS 22-TILT HOME STAND

Hopes for 1st Division Rest on Results.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18 — Returning from a 3-1 series victory over the "basement bargain" Browns of St. Louis, the Cleveland Indians hoped today that their 22-game home stand would provide the hypodermic needed to lift them into the first division.

Failure of Bob Feller to find home plate and the clubbing of Joe Gordon, Eddie Robinson and Dale Mitchell featured a twin bill in the Mound City yesterday as the Tribe dropped a 7-6 "heartbreaker" in the opening game before salvaging the nightcap, 4-3.

Gordon's 21st homer of the year with two aboard in the ninth inning of the opener wiped out a three-run lead and put the Indians ahead, 6-4 Paul Lehner, the St. Louis rookie who likes to go barefoot and A. W. O. L. duplicated Joe's feat in the bottom half of the frame, however, to give the Browns their only series victory.

Al Gettel continued his newly found pitching prowess in the nightcap to limit the Browns to four bingles The New York Yankee castoff now has permitted but five hits in his last two starts.

The Tribe clinched the verdict in the fifth with three runs on a quartet of singles by Al Lopez Gettel, Mitchell and Hal Peck.

Match Opening Today May Be Deciding Duel for National Flag

By The Associated Press

Today was double D-day in Brooklyn—for both the Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals.

The two top contenders were slated to meet in the first of two crucial sets which could decide the National league pennant.

The Cards must win at least three out of four of the current series at Ebbets field if they are to make any appreciable dent in the Dodgers' present four and a half game cushion.

The Dodgers, on the other hand, won't be satisfied with anything less than an even break That promises not to be so easy. Up to now they have not been able to do that, having dropped eight games in 15 meetings with their arch rivals.

Schedule Favors Cards

The remaining schedule is very much in favor of the Cards Although the Brooks have three games fewer to play than the Cards, 39 in all, more than half of them are against first division clubs—seven with the Cards, nine with the New York Giants and four with Boston.

Of the Cards' 42 remaining games 17 are with the rest of the first division—seven with Brooklyn, five with New York and five with Boston. They have 17 home games left to play while the Dodgers have 21. However, in intersectional warfare, the Cards finish at home while the Brooks are on the road.

The night game of today's afternoon-night doubleheader is the one ordered by league President Ford Frick, coming out of his upholding of the Cards' protest over the Brooks' 3-2 victory against St. Louis last July 20 Frick declared the game a 3-3 tie, ruling Ron Northey should have been credited with a ninth inning home run instead of being declared out at home.

Cards Tighten Race

The Cards tightened the race yesterday by defeating the Pirates in Pittsburgh 6-5 to gain a full game on the pace-setters while the Dodgers were being shut out by Philadelphia 4-0.

Each team was forced to a no-decision contest in the second game of their doubleheaders The Dodgers were held to a 4-4 tie in their nightcap while the Cards and Pirates engaged in a scoreless deadlock in their finale. The Dodger-Phils second game was called at the end of six innings because of Pennsylvania's 7 p. m curfew law while rain and wet grounds halted the Card-Pirate game after four and a half innings.

The rebounding Boston Braves improved their third place standing by sweeping two games from the slipping New York Giants in Boston, 2-1 and 3-1, to make it four in a row over the New Yorkers who now have dropped seven straight.

The New York Yankees had their American league first place margin cut to 12½ games when the Boston Red Sox shut them out 3-0 at the Yankee stadium in an 11-inning thriller.

The third place Detroit Tigers split with the White Sox in Chicago, taking the second game 4-3 after losing the opener 1-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics moved within a game of the Tigers by winning two from the Senators in Washington, 2-1 and 5-2.

The Pirates set a National league record when Frank Gustine and Hank Greenberg belted home runs for a new mark of 25 home runs by one club in five games. The old one of 15 was set by the Cards in 1925.

Cardinal-Fearing Yanks Hope Bums Win Flag

By JIM BECKER
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Barring the incredible, the New York Yankees are in.

The only worry left to Bucky Harris' men is whether the World Series will be a five cent one—or a $52.24 junket. The Yankees probably would prefer the former. Facing the Brooklyn Dodgers should make the Yankees odds-on favorites to take home the junior league's 27th victory in the post-season classic. The St. Louis Cards won't be so easy.

There are several good reasons why the Redbirds will be more formidable in a World Series than the Dodgers. The Card pitching is better over the short haul. Stoppers and great money players like Harry Brecheen and George Munger will be hard to beat when the blue chips are down.

HARRY BRECHEEN
Bombers Prefer Bums

Brecheen won three games against the Red Sox last year. If Eddie Dyer, Card manager, chooses to open with "The Cat" against the Yankees Brecheen can repeat that performance. Munger is a great stuff pitcher, ideal for the type of pitching called for in a Series.

In addition the Cards have blazing fast rookie Jim Hearn, and they could coax a win from the arm of Murry Dickson or Howie Pollet.

The Dodger mound crew, on the other hand, is a motley crew Only Ralph Branca has been consistent throughout the year The Dodgers have been able to come up with a well-pitched game at crucial periods, but the staff has none of the depth of the Cards.

Joe Hatten, for example, beat the Chicago Cubs six times in his first ten victories. He has been much less than a ball of fire against the league's other six teams.

Brooklyn hitting is consistent, with six regulars around the .300 mark. But the Bums have no really long ball hitters, no sluggers who can take charge and wreck a ball game.

Only Dixie Walker and Peewee Reese, of the starting Dodgers even have tasted World Series competition. The rest are newcomers to the classic, and two Dodgers—Jackie Robinson and Spider Jorgensen—are in their first major league year.

But the seasoned Cardinals have Whitey Kurowski, Enos Slaughter, Joe Medwick, Terry Moore to pace their hitting attack. All are Series veterans along with Stan Musial, who is on the someback trail after a dismal start at the plate.

The Dodger lead is the result of an off and running start. The Cardinals were in the cellar for more than a month But despite the Brooklyn bulge at this stage of the race, the Cardinals still look like the class of the league

Of course, Brooklyn fans are rooting for their Dodgers to make their lead stand up. They want another chance at the Yankees, who beat them four games to one in the "Wild Pitch Series."

For once, the Yankee fans are rooting right along with them. They think the Brooks would be a much softer touch than the Cardinals.

STOCK MARKET HITS SNAG IN RECOVERY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—A few stocks tried to keep the recovery from going today although many market leaders moved into losing territory. Dealings slowed after a fairly active opening. Declines of fractions to a point or more were in the majority near the fourth hour.

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet gave ground following the federal trade commission's price-fixing charges against this industry.

Occasional gainers included Curtiss-Publishing, Deere, Oliver Corp., International Harvester, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Union Carbide and Johns-Manville.

Beth and Kink hit a 1947 low in the wake of an omitted dividend and earnings recession. Pademelt and Western Oil weakened. Eastwood were Paramount Pictures, Santa Fe, U. S. Gypsum, American Telephone, Anaconda, Kennecott, Boeing, Woolworth, General Electric and General Motors.

A new mark load top of $33.50 per hundredweight also was established on 35 head of cattle owned by L. J. Nagy of Gibsonburg, O. The cattle averaged 1,025 pounds. The previous market high was $33.25 per hundredweight.

Confederate generals out-rank Yankee generals, generally speaking, on the prices their autographs fetch.

Marion Shooters Go To Vandalia

Between 20 and 30 trapshooters from Marion will go to Vandalia this week to shoot in the annual Grand American, top clay pigeon event in the country.

Most of the local shooters also will go after the top prize money of $3,000 in the big event, the Grand American handicap, set for Thursday and Friday.

Because of the Vandalia event the weekly Wednesday afternoon shoot at the Marion Gun club has been cancelled.

MARION DELEGATION AT MOOSE MEETING

Columbus Host to 25,000 from All Parts of U. S.

A number of Marion members of the Moose lodge are attending the fifty-ninth annual Moose convention being held in Columbus. Registrations were expected to total 25,000 today, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The convention opened yesterday with a class of 1,000 initiates braving the sultry heat to parade through the capital streets.

A highlight of the day, Wednesday, will be a parade at 6:30 p. m. The Marion lodge will enter the Marion Eagles band of about 30 men in the parade. The band is scheduled to leave here by special bus at 4:30 p. m. to go to Columbus.

Reunions of state associations featured today's program.

While opening ceremonies consisted of appointing convention committees and formal fraternal ceremony, those not eligible to attend meetings took long looks at "Muskit," the real four-legged moose brought from Gogama, Ontario, Canada, by bearded Joe LeFlamne, a trapper whose effort won him $1,000.

"Muskit" sat under a canopy on the state house grounds staring moodily at hundreds of passersby, while LeFlamne proudly regaled the curious with the animal's story.

During his convention visit, "Muskit" will be dunked daily in the Scioto river—to keep from getting pneumonia, LeFlamne says.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

PHILIP Veritzen's black eyebrows were forbidding at my answer, which I knew he did not expect.

"I never have known you to be uncooperative before," he said witheringly. "Is there any particular reason for your unwillingness to make me that promise?"

"Only one," I told him, unperturbed, "and that is my reluctance to make a promise which I might not be able to fulfill. Please do not misunderstand me. I shall put forth every ounce of endeavor in me to finish the play in six weeks. But I have found it rather uphill work so far."

"Your construction and dialogue do not betray that," Phil said, and suddenly one of his most charming smiles replaced the frown. "They are exceptionally good. Just keep up that pace and standard, and everything will be all right. I shall not worry about your failing to keep the six weeks' date. Indeed, I am counting on it."

"But you must not!" I said explosively. "I told you I would try my best, but I cannot promise to deliver the completed play in that time."

"Of course you can," Mary broke in, and I tried to stare in amazement, for her welfare and possible wishes had been my only motives for protesting Phil's edict.

"Just leave Auntie Madge to me, Dad," she went on, flashing one of her best efforts in smiles at him. "I'll ride herd on her, and I'll lay a little wager that the play will be ready for you in six weeks on the dot. What shall it be, cravats to nylons?—although I don't think I'd ever dare select a cravat for you!"

Unerring Taste

"Your taste in everything is unerring, my dear," her father-in-law told her. "But we will have no wagers. I shall be glad to rely on your word. I have a suspicion that you can be even a worse Simon Legree than I am reputed to be."

"Ten times worse!" Mary flashed back, and Philip Veritzen rose, bowing to us with the elaborate courtesy which made a bow almost an obeisance.

"I shall leave you in each other's hands' then," he said, "and I do hope I have not tired you, my dear daughter."

"I feel like eating my weight in—whatever champeens are supposed to eat their weight in," Mary said. "But please tell Mother and 'Lina that I am so anxious to see them. Couldn't they come down a little later?"

"Of course," he said. "They are just as anxious to see you. But—" he looked uncertainly at me.

"I am sure it will be perfectly all right for both Olina and Olga to come down later in the day," I said positively, for I was now on sure ground, "either separately, or together. But not just now. I am sure Mrs. Bickett will wish to see how Mary got through this first interview.

Will Telephone

"Suppose we put it this way," I continued. "Let me telephone you when Mrs. Bickett says it is all right for her to receive more visitors; then Olga and Olina can come down at their own convenience after that."

"That should be perfectly satisfactory," he said. "I will give them that message, and I know they will be as delighted as I am over Mary's complete recovery. Heaven indeed has blessed us, my darling daughter!"

He bowed himself out, and Mary waited only until the door had closed safely behind him before snatching me out of my seat and whirling me around in a breathless dance step.

Knew Perfectly Well

"The darling old so-and-so, and such-and-such!" she said, when she had relensed me and we had both sunk into the nearest chairs. "He knew perfectly well what I meant when I said: 'Suppose I fell ill again?' But he wouldn't admit even the possibility of what I meant. The old meanie! All he thinks about is his old production!"

She turned and looked at me.

"You, know what I meant, too," she said. "I saw it in your eye. Let's talk it over, woman to woman, shall we?"

"Mary," I said firmly, "don't say what you are starting to say. I think I do know what you mean, but you must realize that I cannot possibly speak about it to you until you and Noel have talked it over after your long separation."

Mary gave a gay little laugh.

"And what, my beloved, naive Auntie Madge—I see I shall have to tell you the facts of life—do you think was the topic of my breakfast tete-a-tete with my husband this morning! Planned parenthood—that's the tag you can pin on Noel and me!"
